Two players take turns. On your turn, put the corner of the bite card on a cookie and eat every cookie under the card. Whoever has to eat the poison cookie loses.

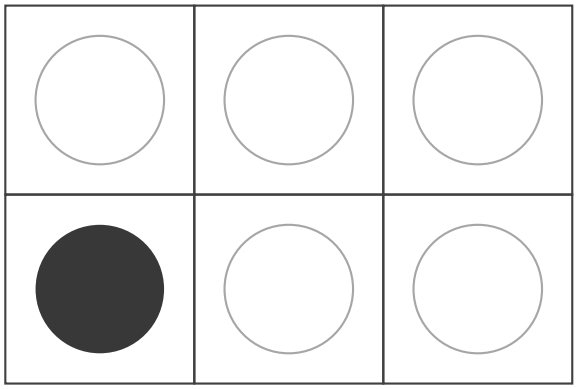

Problem 1: It is your turn on each board. Mark your first bite with an X if you can make sure you win, or circle the board if you can't.

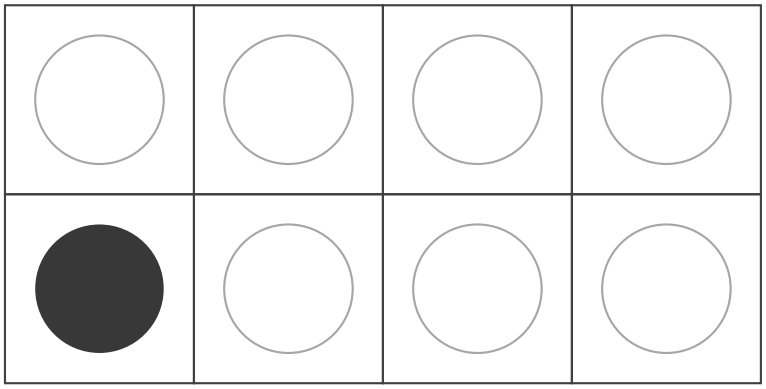

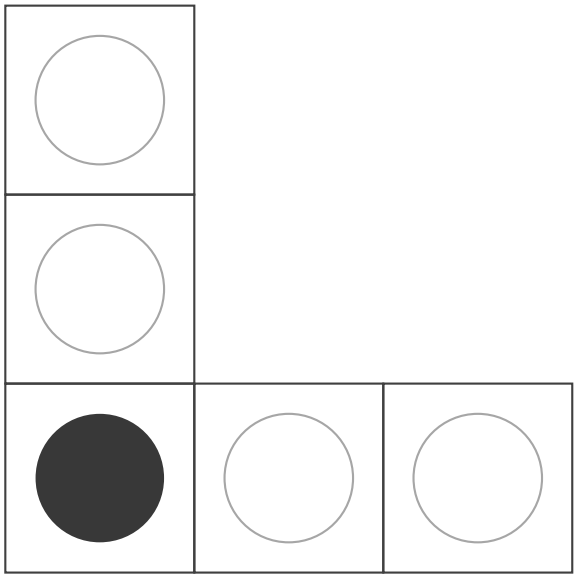

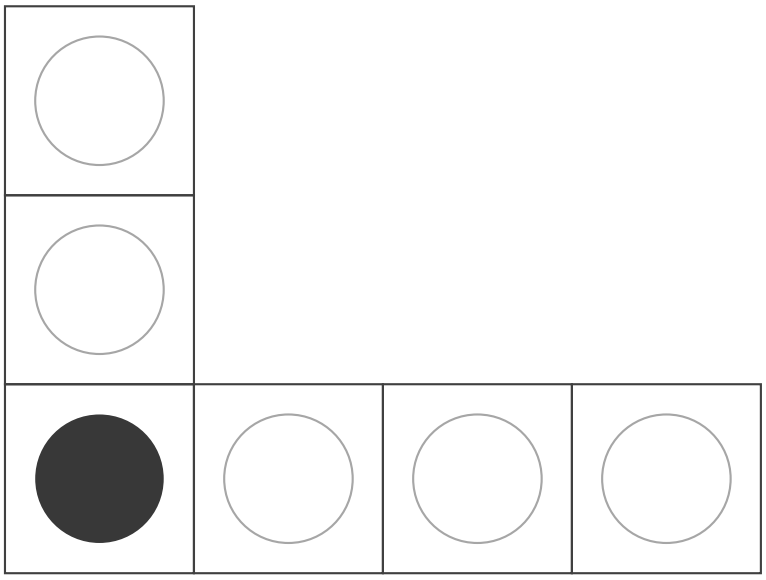

Problem 2: Play on each board with your partner, taking turns going first. Find how to make sure you win when you go first, and mark your first bite with an X.

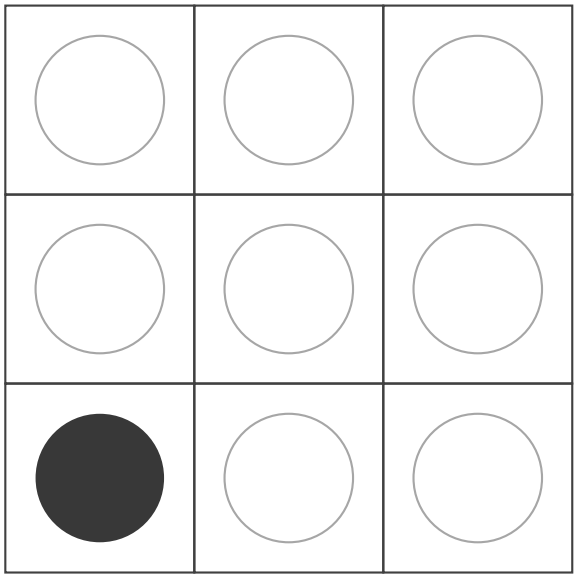

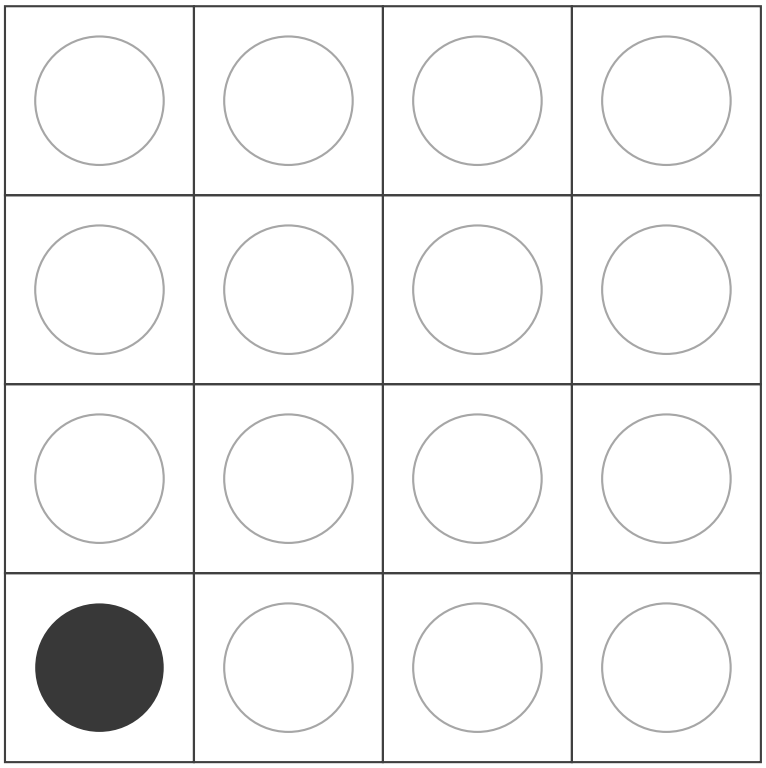

Problem 3: Play on each board with your partner. Circle each board where the player who goes second can make sure to win.

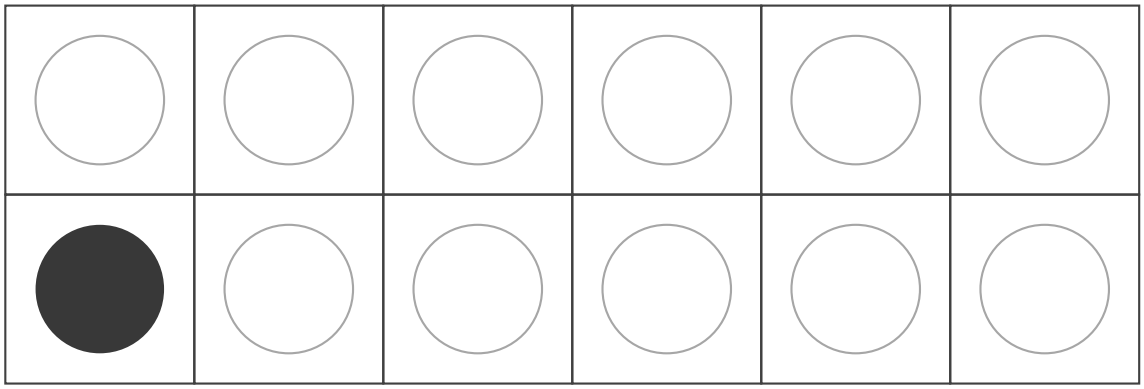

Problem 4: Play on each board with your partner, taking turns going first. Find how to make sure you win when you go first, and mark your first bite with an X.

Problem 5: Play on this board with your partner, taking turns going first. Find how to make sure you win when you go first, and mark your first bite with an X.

Problem 6: Take bites from a full 4 by 4 board to make a board where the player who goes second can make sure to win. Color each board you find on a grid.
